

Video voice-over

Blessing Enifome: “My name is Blessing Enifome and I'm a graduate Data and Technology analyst. My experience has been a very rewarding experience for me. I've learned essential skills that will help you to succeed in the career for myself, and I feel supported in a safe and inclusive environment as well. What attracted me was the opportunity to work and learn from experienced professionals. We have a great work culture here, great teamwork. They are always there to help and support you to ensure that you achieve your career path. I would say ScottishPower is the right place to start your career. There are lots of different opportunities in here for you, so go to the career speech and apply”.
